

Compass Crypto Reference Indices

THE COMPASS CRYPTO REFERENCE INDICES

A reliable reference for digital assets

ABOUT THE INDICES

The Compass Crypto Reference Indices (also called the CCRI) measure hourly crypto exchange rates against US Dollars for the main cryptocurrencies. Indices are computed hourly, every day of the year. They are calculated at the end of every hour and are published around 5 minutes after the end of the hour.

CCRI have been designed to provide institutional investors with independent and robust cryptocurrency reference prices. Based on a resilient and BMR compliant methodology with the EU Benchmark Regulation (EU BMR), they serve as independent and transparent reference prices to value cryptocurrency portfolio or as benchmarks for investors willing to issue investment products tracking cryptocurrencies prices.

BENEFITS OF THE COMPASS CRYPTO REFERENCE INDICES:

- provides a transparent and independent fixing for the main crypto currencies every hour, 24/7
- a trusted toolbox to create crypto indices, backtest strategies, value crypto portfolio or conduct research
- based on a robust and resilient methodology
- exchanges selection based on qualitative and quantitative filters
- based on observables transactions on the main trusted exchanges
- methodology and governance in line with the most constraining financial indices regulation, the European Benchmark Regulation (EU BMR)
- avoid bias linked to abnormal market activity
- reduces information asymmetry
- full historical data available
- based on reliable data providers
